

TAU BETA PI

THE ENGINEERING HONOR SOCIETY
TEXAS ALPHA CHAPTER

ENGINEERING AND EXCELLENCE IN ENGINEERING

Tau Beta Pi (TBP) is an interdisciplinary engineering honor society that recognizes students with high academic achievement and a commitment to personal and professional integrity.

TAU BETA PI MEMBERSHIP

Tau Beta Pi is the second oldest national honor society in America, and our members are among the brightest engineers at The University of Texas at Austin! Eligible candidates are in the top eighth of their Junior class or the top fifth of their Senior class within the Cockrell School of Engineering. Following their invitation to join, candidates complete a semester-long process to demonstrate their character and dedication, as well as their ability to balance school and extracurricular activities.

Tau Beta Pi (TBP) strives to provide a well-rounded undergraduate engineering experience to its members by focusing on maintaining academic excellence and developing exemplary character through a variety of events. With service, social, and professional qualities in mind, TBP hosts events such as etiquette dinner, burger burns, professional development sessions, creek clean-ups, and "Fireside Chats" with faculty members in diverse areas of study.

Throughout the semester, TBP invites corporate partners to present at general meetings. In partnering with TBP, supporters will receive recognition and credit on our website, newsletters, and advertising for our events, in addition to opportunities to interface with our members in a variety of settings.
